

CoachinGurus.net has announced their Top 30 Most Influential Coaching Gurus!

Tom Crane has just been voted as one of the World's Top 30 most influential Coaching Professionals. Top Gurus are the "Cream of the Crop", and practitioners who develop and bring out the best in other's personal, financial and business abilities. All not only apply their own coaching principals to achieve superior results with their clients and their organizations, but develop and influence excellence throughout the globe.

Their research came from e-mails sent to 22,000 business people, consultants, academics and MBA's around the world for nominations and our public opinion poll. In this category, which excluded sports coaches, all TOP 30 received more than 1000 votes each. The criteria for judging the TOP 30 focused on: Originality of ideas, practicality of ideas, coaching results, presentation style, international outlook, impact of ideas, quality of publications and writings, dispersion of publications and writings, public opinion, and the guru factor.
